Courageous Conversations

Brené Brown, PHD, LMSW, author of Dare to Lead: Brave Work Tough Conversations, and Whole Hearts says “Courageous conversations mean having the courage to show up when you can’t control the outcome.”

We invite you to join us for courageous conversations during these unpredictable and unprecedented times, especially when things are changing daily or even hourly!

These conversations allow you to virtually gather with other early childhood educators to share what is on your heart and seek support. We may not have all the answers, but we do have a compassionate heart for the incredible work each of you are doing during these stressful times, and always.

If this sounds helpful to you, please join us for any or all of the scheduled conversations this week. No need to sign up, just click on the link for a time that works for you. These conversations will be held on the Zoom platform as we think it’s important to see one another. However, if you prefer to not be on video, that is also an option (just click on the video icon to turn it off).

Thank YOU for all you are doing for children and families!
